

5 TRANSFERRABLE SKILLS

YOU DIDN'T KNOW

YOU HAD

classroom

1 Adaptability

You face so many changing plans during your school day. You have a class of 30 different children all with different needs. You share ideas and collaborate with your team, often changing plans at the last minute.

2 Leadership

You motivate and inspire your class every single day by creating an encouraging & positive classroom environment. Effective classroom management requires strong leadership. And, you drive your team and wider school roles to success drawing of a culture of continuous development.

3 Emotional Intelligence

Your ability to display empathy, emotional regulation, active listening and conflict resolution are a solid foundation to thrive outside the classroom.

4 Communication Skills

Not only do you have a class full of children who all need a variety of communication skills but you communicate with so many different professionals and parents each day. Not to mention your amazing non verbal skills, your amazing teacher look!

5 Multi tasking

Not only do you have to deliver lessons you have planned to a diverse range of children, the list is endless for how many other jobs you do at the same time.

You:

Monitor behaviour & engagement, complete lots of admin tasks, collaborate and communicate with your team and parents & adapt to change in the moment.

COULD THIS BE YOUR SOLUTION?

If you've downloaded this free guide, it probably means you're thinking about a career change.

I'm Charlotte, the founder of Baby Band. I was a classroom teacher too, once upon a time, so I know exactly what the pressures are like and how difficult it can be to escape the career. I've spent the last few years building up the Baby Band brand and delivering my very own take on pre-school music classes that are unlike any others.

Feeling stuck?

Moving careers is hard, it might feel like it's not the right time or you feel like you don't have any other skills. But, what is really holding you back? Fear? Finances? Lack of business knowledge?
